01. The Disrupted Consumer Economy, 2018-2019
2018 was peak retail apocalypse...

- More than 12,000 stores were projected to close in 2018 — up from roughly 9,000 in 2017, and the largest number of closures in U.S. history, according to Cushman & Wakefield
- 2017 retail closures were ~4x 2016 closures
- By 2022, analysts estimate that 1 out of every 4 malls in the U.S. could be out of business

1 E-commerce sales are sales of goods and services where the buyer places in order, or the price and terms of the sale are negotiated over an Internet, mobile device (M-commerce), extranet, Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) network, electronic mail, or other comparable online system. Payment may or may not be made online.

2 Estimates are adjusted for seasonal variation, but not for price changes. Total sales estimates are also adjusted for trading-day differences and moving holidays.

NESTLÉ HAS BEEN LATE TO PARTICIPATE IN KEY TRENDS DRIVING GROWTH IN THE FOOD AND BEVERAGE INDUSTRY

- Missed large trends that drove growth across food & beverage, e.g. natural pet food, organic baby food, flavored sparkling water, etc.
- Slow to renovate legacy brands with more modern attributes
- Failed to leverage enormous R&D budget with successful innovation at scale
- Not enough acquisitions of fast-moving smaller brands to better participate in growth

Play 3: Storytelling gets more acquisitions more cheaply

Overview: To increase new customer acquisition, athletic sock disruptor Bombas advertised on podcasts valued for storytelling

They measured campaign performance using vanity URLs which led to a sign-up form to receive an emailed coupon code

Results: In a given week, ~50-60% of new customers could be attributed from paid channels… with podcasting ranging from 15% to 40% of that Play 4: Community turns CAC into LTV

- Glossier: 70% of online sales come via peer referrals
- Fabletics: Found customers in areas with physical stores spend 2.8x more across all channels than customers in areas without stores.
- Matches Fashion: User-generated shoppable content drives 35% of site revenues

“We have a 360-degree marketing plan, so we have everything from radio to television now… but the biggest part of our marketing all goes toward our community. It's social media, it's community building, it's information sharing.”

Play 5: For disruptors, branding must perform – and vice versa

“We don’t think that something like ‘impressions’ means anything. Since these brands are selling direct-to-consumer, we’re able to understand how certain stories work, and how placement and communications work, and then replicate the things that work. I don’t think that transparency has existed in our industry.”

—Jesse Derris, founder, Derris

“Traditional agency-brand relationships were a function of relationship building and pricing efficiency. That’s still important but for the DTC brands, it’s much more quantifiable. So we need to be prepared to be held accountable for those types of goals. There’s no fancy PowerPoint presentation or New York City dinner that explains away us not driving the business outcome that they want us to.”

Top 5 Agency Holding Co’s Stock Prices: Last 3 Years to Dec. ‘18

U.S. agency revenue grew 1.8% in 2017, slowest growth since the ad market emerged from recession in 2010.

WPP had worst year since the financial crisis, declining revenues from like-for-like operations and a slightly reduced profit margin. This year company projects organic growth will be flat.

Interpublic, Omnicom and Publicis have also notably registered anemic growth.

Addressable TV will probably remain the favored disruptor buy

- ThirdLove started investing in TV in 2017 with a budget of $286,000 for the first month. Within 3 months, they had spent $3 million. ThirdLove’s monthly TV budget has more than quadrupled since then. It has aired three separate ad campaigns and spent over $13.2 million on TV in 2018, per Nielsen.

- ThirdLove buys a mix of traditional TV and addressable TV ads, and measures traditional TV ads and addressable TV spots with website visits, conversions and cost-per-actions using third-party TV analytics software. The company says TV could comprise 20% of its marketing spend by the end of 2019.

“As advertising on Facebook and other digital channels becomes more and more expensive, offline strategy, especially TV, is more and more important.”

Pop-up stores are today’s “creative revolution”

- Glossier
  - Launched a pop-up in San Francisco’s Rhea’s Café, which served its signature dishes while also merchandising the space to whimsically show off Glossier products amidst flowers and restaurant props.

- Snowe
  - Pop-up in NYC is part of a shoppable loft, event space, and registry designed to inspire home transformations; “hybrid approach” of creating a physical location that can “inspire”—and make people shop.

- Away
  - “Terminal A” pop-up in SoHo is a chic airport design with a TSA-style checkpoint, luggage scanners, a NYC-themed souvenir area, and the company’s luggage line.
  - The “Uniform Shop” area lets customers mix and match luggage color combinations, add limited-edition stickers to their own luggage, or purchase luggage with hand-painted monogramming, pins, and embroidery.

Digital retail enabler Shopify is assisting 150 disruptors to open locations

- GymShark apparel used Shopify to quickly set up pop-up shops in various markets using iPads and credit card readers. The POS app syncs inventory and sales on the go. Having an in-person presence helped to create excitement about the brand while also garnering important information from customers about what they like and what they would like to see in the future.

- Kylie Cosmetics is currently using Shopify to run a pop-up shop at Westfield Topanga outside Los Angeles. The shop features a glamorous replication of Kylie Jenner’s own bedroom as well as a Christmas tree with Kylie Cosmetics for ornaments. The shop sells her full selection of cosmetics, gift sets, and lip kits.

- Casey Shagena of Menagerie, which used Shopify for a temporary pop-up shop, says, “Shopify has helped me grow my business with easy-to-use POS features.”

- Mackenzie & Blaine Vossler of TheLocalBranch.com, which used Shopify to open a retail shop, say, “Using Shopify POS makes running our store on the road simple.”

Casper’s “Dreamery” locations where fans of the brand can schedule a nap on one of Casper’s cutting-edge mattresses; experience includes a sleep mask, robe, earplugs, makeup wipes, as well as a cup of coffee afterward.
Casper will open 200 stores in North America within 3 years, lingerie startup Adore Me for up to 300 in 5 years, and Allbirds for stores in 4 cities in the next year.

More than half (60%) of the e-retailers studied opened their first pop-ups locations in New York, followed by LA (16.2%) and Toronto (5.4%). More than a third (41.3%) opened their first permanent location in New York, then LA and San Francisco (12% each) and Chicago (5.3%).

Nearly 62% of permanent stores opened in the same city where an e-commerce venture opened their first pop-up shop.

Last year the greatest number of permanent stores were opened by formerly online-only retailers, including Everlane, Allbirds, Away and MM.LaFleur.

Ikea is two years into its “bootcamp” program
The trend: Aggressively building digital relationships

- Nike announced in ‘15 that it plans to hit $50 billion in sales by ‘20 with direct and digital businesses being 2 key ways to get there.

- Fundamental to the direct strategy, per CEO Mark Parker (March of ‘18), is “to be more personal at scale.” Aim is to use data to treat every one of Nike’s customers as a unique individual and get more value out of each digital customer:
  - Why they acquired consumer data and analytics company Zodiac—to gain insight on its customers and how they behave.
  - Introduced the Nike+ mobile app in ‘16 designed to build a one-to-one relationship with athletes to aid the purchase of apparel/shoes; included stories tailored based on inputs of interests and the ability to connect with an expert for training tips.
  - Focusing first on its super-fans: the Nike+ loyalty program members and app users, who on average spend nearly triple what Nike.com shoppers do.
  - Launched its SNKRS app in China in December ‘17, boasting that it got 2 million downloads in the first month alone, and just launched it in Japan, where it became the No. 1 free downloaded app in the iOS store.
Starbucks pins growth on digital relationships with occasional customers

“Establishing digital relationships with many more customers represents a significant growth opportunity, as we have proven that a direct communications channel combined with personalization enhances the customer experience and drives customer engagement.”
